Pond Myth of the Month

I can wait until its warmer to clean out my pond...

Well, not exactly. Just like Mother Nature cleans out her ponds and lakes with Spring rains, so should you. While your pond may not need it every year, by replenishing the water in your pond and giving it a good cleaning at the beginning of the season, its off to a fresh start. Early Spring, before your pond awakens from its water dormancy, is the best time of year to perform your clean out. As long as your water temperature is cooler than 55°, the beneficial bacteria that grow in your filter and on your rocks will not be established. If a clean out is done after bacteria colonies form, your ecosystem may be thrown out of balance and your pond may go through a green phase before your bacteria colonies reestablish themselves again. And if you need a little help, call a professional Certified Aquascape Contractor like your friends at The Garden's Edge.

Cabin Fever

This is the time of year when we all start to exhibit symptoms of cabin fever. We, much like our fish have not had nearly enough movement and yearn for the days of the splashing sound of waterfalls and streams. I find myself staring out our window at the pond envisioning just that, even just pretending to see a dragon fly dance over the waters surface saves me from simply packing up and heading south. Don't get me wrong, I love four seasons. Fall is my favorite time of year. But late winter has no place for me. In my world, winter would end at the end of February and March first would be 65 degrees.

Since that just isn't the case we have to make do with what Mother Nature hands us. While we recommend completing spring clean outs prior to water temperatures reaching 55 degrees consistently, in our area that may not happen until April! So what do we do in the meantime? Spend sorrowing hours staring blankly out our windows? Well, we can start by making a list of things we can do when the weather starts to cooperate. Consider the overall health of your system. Are you overstocked? Is it time to start budgeting for a pond expansion or addition? How successful was your fall maintenance? Is the pond currently full of leaves? A healthy spring emergence is reliant on due diligence protecting the pond from leaves in fall. If it is full of leaves, then the first item on your list this spring is securing a net so it won't get skipped next year. Even though you will be completing a spring clean out, you may also want to purchase some EcoCarbon to absorb some of the tannins that may be left behind after your clean out. How successful was your pond maintenance schedule last season? Did you neglect adding SAB and Aquaclearer on a regular basis? Clients often spend extra money playing catch up with their water quality. Preventative maintenance is the key. You will be happy to know that Aquascape Designs is making that preventative maintenance even easier this year by reformulating many of the best products.

- AquaClearer is now AquaClearer Extreme!
- AquaClearer Extreme Dry now includes Activated Barley!
- AquaClearer Extreme Liquid is reformulated 3 times stronger!
- S.A.B. Extreme is now 3 products in one! S.A.B. now also contains Activated Barley and AquaClearer Extreme Dry Bacteria.

For those of you with wetland filters and large scale water features AquaClearer Wetland, Pond & Lake offers new formulation providing the most potent large-scale water treatment available.

Now for the regimen that will save you time and money in the long run. After all, we want you busy napping on that hammock next to the pond this summer, not working on it all
